REPORT ON THE SUBALLOCATION OF BUDGET ALLOCATIONS FOR FISCAL YEAR 2021

JULY 13, 2020.—Committed to the Committee of the Whole House on the State of the Union and ordered to be printed

Mrs. LOWEY, from the Committee on Appropriations, submitted the following

REPORT

SUBALLOCATION OF BUDGET ALLOCATIONS FOR FISCAL YEAR 2021

The Committee on Appropriations submits the following report on the suballocation of budget allocations for fiscal year 2021, pursuant to section 302(b) of the Congressional Budget Act of 1974. This report is consistent with the “Allocation of Spending Authority to the House Committee on Appropriations” printed in the Congressional Record on May 1, 2020, by the chairman of the House Committee on the Budget pursuant to section 202 of the Bipartisan Budget Act of 2019, and the Congressional Budget Act of 1974.

The submission of this report meets the requirement of section 302(b) of the Congressional Budget Act of 1974 and resulting requirement under the Rules of the House.

The suballocations in this report do not include amounts for potential adjustments to the Committee on Appropriations’ allocation for funding provided in reported bills for the purposes of section 251(b)(2) of the Balanced Budget and Emergency Deficit Control Act of 1985. Those adjustments would be made after eligible funding is included in a bill reported to the House and the chairman of the Committee on the Budget subsequently adjusts the Committee on Appropriations’ 302(a) allocation.

MINORITY VIEWS

The Republican Members of the House Appropriations Committee oppose the 302(b) subcommittee allocations for Fiscal Year 2021 (FY21). The allocations set forth in this report do not give a complete picture of all the spending in the FY21 appropriations bills.

The Majority party is moving forward without working together with the Minority to develop bills consistent with the Bipartisan Budget Agreement (P.L. 116-37) that was enacted last year. Instead, the Majority unilaterally decided to include hundreds of billions of dollars in so-called “emergency” spending for things that really are not emergencies. This includes almost $200 billion for infrastructure; nearly $35 billion to respond to the coronavirus on top of the trillions already provided in the current fiscal year; and $12.5 billion for veterans, even though it was known when the budget agreement was reached that these costs would rise.

In total, there is more than a quarter of a trillion dollars in additional deficit spending not included in the 302(b) subcommittee allocations. Designating spending as an “emergency” is nothing more than a budgeting device used to free up funds to be spent on lower priority programs. For example, we should not be contributing to the Green Climate Fund or burdening critical sectors of our economy with more expensive and cumbersome regulations.

Government spending is a growing threat to our economic security, and I am concerned about the path we are on. The Congressional Budget Office now estimates the budget deficit will top $3.7 trillion dollars this fiscal year—almost quadruple previous estimates. These are the highest levels in American history.

Being fiscally responsible requires reviewing what is really needed and making difficult choices. If we fail to make tough choices, we are worsening our budget outlook and our ability to respond to the next crisis. We would also be jeopardizing future economic stability for our children and our grandchildren. The American people demand more of us.

The additional deficit spending forced into FY21 appropriations bills is short-sighted because there was no attempt to get consensus with Republicans in the House, the Senate, or the White House. Instead, it appears that the FY21 bills have been directed from the top-down, rather than the bottom-up, as our Committee typically operates.

I am disappointed in our failure to come together at a time when the nation needs that about as much as anything we could give them. We face a crisis unlike anything that we have ever faced, and it saddens me that we are in this place. My hope moving forward is that we can work with the Senate and the Administration in a bipartisan way to find common ground on our most pressing needs.

KAY GRANGER.
